THANKS TO BARCELONA, WE HAVE "WORLD BOOK DAY"!

la Diada de San Jordi (St. Georges Day) is one of the biggest most widely celebrated festival days in Barcelona it takes place on April 23rd and is a celebration of love and literacy. Roses have been associated with this day since medieval times but the giving of books is a more recent tradition originating in 1923 when a bookseller decided to use the holiday to commemorate the nearly simultaneous deaths of Miguel Cervantes and William Shakespeare on 23 April 1616 inspired by this custom UNESCO declared the day as the International Day of Books
